The event is aimed at creating awareness on international law

Gujarat National Law University (GNLU), in collaboration with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Switzerland, has organised a public international law academy attended by diplomats, scholars and teachers of international law from November 3-8 at the university's campus.

The aim of the public international law academy is to create awareness and familiarise foreign services officers on day to day nuances of international law while dealing with contemporary issues of international law like terrorism, collective security, international criminal law, human rights and humanitarian law.

Participants in the event will be from developing countries and other resource persons will include members of the International Law Commission and professors of international law from India, US, Australia, Austria, South Africa, China and Switzerland.

The academy was inaugurated by Hon'ble Justice Ravi Tripathi, Gujarat High Court, Hon'ble Law Minister Pradipsinh Jadeja, Government of Gujarat, and Gilles Roduit, Deputy Head of Mission, Switzerland Embassy in India on Monday, November 3.

On Saturday, November 8, Justice Mukesh R Shah, Justice, Gujarat High Court and LN Rao, Additional Solicitor-General of India, will be the Chief Guest and Distinguished Guest of Honour, respectively, for the valedictory function.
